Full-Stack Developer with a unique background in construction. My journey into programming began from the encouragement of friends and a newfound passion for creation within programming. My natural attention to detail and analytical skills, honed through board game strategy, have seamlessly transitioned into my programming pursuits. Having completed University of Denver Full-Stack Coding Bootcamp to accelerate my entry into the tech industry, I am driven by a thirst for knowledge and a growth mindset. I thrive in team environments, where communication and positivity foster a supportive and productive workplace. My adaptability and fast-learning capabilities enable me to tackle new challenges with enthusiasm and dedication.
